Why I Chose this Field:

Since I was little I always had to play teacher and students with my friends and I continuously had to be the teacher. I love when the kids come to school and give you a big ole hug! I love watching the children grow and when they get their AH-HA moments! Building a relationship with kids and their families is the most rewarding feeling ever! Every child is so precious and unique in their own way and I love meeting these amazing little humans!
